Chocolates

Many people enjoy eating chocolates. They are everyone's favorite. Do you know that chocolate comes from a tree? The basic ingredient for chocolate is the cacao bean, which is the fruit of the cacao tree. You can find this tree in tropical countries where the weather is hot and wet. Africa supplies most of the world's cacao beans, and Ghana and the Ivory Coast are the continent's top producers.

It is not easy to grow cacao beans. For one thing, it takes a long time for the cacao tree to bear its first fruit. Farmers must wait three to five years before they can get their first harvest. Pests, diseases, and bad weather also damage the cacao trees. This makes it difficult for farmers in these countries to produce enough cacao beans for chocolate producers.

However, people all around the world are eating more chocolate. In Switzerland, an average person eats 9 kilograms of chocolate a year! On average, Australians and Americans eat more than 4 kilograms of chocolate a year. In China, the average person eats only 200 grams a year, but this amount is rising. Chocolate will become more expensive due to the increase in consumption and the limited supply of cacao beans. Perhaps, only rich people can afford to eat chocolates in the future.

1. The cacao tree takes two years to bear its first fruit.
2. Kenya is the world's top producer of cacao beans.
3. The cacao tree grows well in wet weather.
4. Swiss people eat more chocolate than Australians.
5. The price of chocolate will remain unchanged in the future.

3. Oh dear! Will the shortage of cacao beans increase the price of chocolates?
4. That's right. However, there has been a shortage of cacao beans recently because the fruits have been damaged by pests and bad weather.
5. Yes, they are. But the main ingredient for making chocolate comes from Africa.
6. When did you come back from Belgium?
7. I got some Belgian chocolates. Please try them at home.
8. I'm afraid so. You should eat as much as you want now, starting with the ones I got for you!
9. I got back two days ago. Hey, I got something for you!

VI 次の英文を読んで各設問に答えなさい。

When the Internet first came into being, no one expected that it would become such an important part of our lives. As it grows in popularity, parents and teachers worry that young people would spend more time on the Internet and stop reading books. (A), children and teenagers have been reading more books in the past two decades. Books are becoming popular again due to the success of some novels ⁽¹⁾in capturing the hearts of young readers.

Many children enjoy reading the Harry Potter books written by J.K. Rowling. These novels are a worldwide success and have been translated into 80 languages. The first book of this seven-book fantasy series, Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone, was published in 1997. (B), no one noticed this little story of wizards and school children, but the word spread quickly. (C) the time the second book was published, thousands of children were lining up outside bookstores to buy it. The final book in the series, Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows, became the fastest selling book in history. It sold 11 million copies on the day it was launched.

The Twilight novels are also a big hit with young adult readers. Twilight is a four-book fantasy romance series written by Stephanie Meyer. It tells the story of Bella Swan, a teenage girl who fell in love with a 104-year-old vampire named Edward Cullen. The series sold over 120 million copies and had been translated into at least 38 different languages. Teenagers all over the world love this series.

The arrival of The Hunger Games at bookstores also helped generate interest in reading. It is the first book in a three-book fantasy series written by Suzanne Collins. The series looks at the effects of war and violence on teenagers. The main character of the books is Katniss Everdeen. She participated in the Hunger Games, an annual event (D) teenagers compete in a televised battle until only one survivor remains. Some readers in Asia think the book is similar to the Japanese novel, Battle Royale.

These books are popular with teenagers for several reasons. Firstly, the main character in the story is usually a young person, ⁽²⁾~~~~~.

Secondly, they were written as a series. A series is a collection of books written about the same characters. Once a book is finished, the reader can move to the next one. (E), readers can enjoy the same stories for a longer time. Thirdly, these books have been adapted into movies for fans to enjoy on the big screen. With so many interesting novels to choose from, parents may not need ⁽³⁾worry about their children not reading enough.
